

“ ”

Premal Kamdar

Director, Digital Health Product Management

Bristol Myers Squibb

Early detection of Cytokine Release Syndrome (CRS) using digital health products and predictive algorithms will enable us to maximize the potential of cell therapies and T-cell engagers.

The collaboration with DATAcc by DiMe has been instrumental in supporting the industry towards this objective. I am optimistic about a future where more patients will have access to and benefit from these transformative therapies.

